

Todd B. & Lisa M. Maly ("the Taxpayers") were present at the hearing. No one appeared as legal counsel for the Taxpayers.

The Commission took statutory notice, received exhibits, and heard testimony.

The Commission is required by Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-5018 (Cum. Supp. 2006) to state its final decision and order concerning an appeal, with findings of fact and conclusions of law, on the record or in writing. The final decision and order of the Commission in this case is as follows.

I. ISSUES

Was the County Board's decision, reversing a determination by the County Assessor that the land described in this appeal was disqualified for special valuation, unreasonable or arbitrary?

II. FINDINGS OF FACT

The Commission finds and determines that:

1. The parcel of real property to which this appeal pertains is described as Lot 12 NE, Section 1, Township 9, Range 5, Lancaster, Nebraska ("the subject property").
2. Prior to March 19, 2007, the County Assessor made a determination that the subject property should be disqualified for use of special valuation.
3. The Taxpayer protested that determination.
4. The County Board reversed the determination of the County Assessor.
5. The County Assessor timely filed an appeal of the County Board's decision with the Commission.

6. The County Board and the Taxpayer were served with a Notice in Lieu of Summons and duly answered that Notice.
7. An Order for Hearing and Notice of Hearing issued on February 2, 2009, set a hearing of the appeal for April 1, 2009, at 9:00 a.m. CDST.
8. An Affidavit of Service, which appears in the records of the Commission, establishes that a copy of the Order for Hearing and Notice of Hearing was served on all parties.

III. APPLICABLE LAW

1. The Commission may determine any question raised in the proceedings upon which an order, decision, determination or action appealed from is based. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-5016(7) (Cum. Supp. 2008).
2. Subject matter jurisdiction of the Commission in this appeal is over issues raised during the county board of equalization proceedings. Arcadian Fertilizer, L.P. v. Sarpy County Bd. of Equalization, 7 Neb.App. 655, 584 N.W.2d 353 (1998).
3. The County Assessor has standing to appeal decisions of the County Board. Phelps County Board of Equalization v. Graf, 258 Neb. 810, 606 N.W.2d 736 (2000).
4. The Legislature may provide that agricultural land and horticultural land, as defined by the Legislature, shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may provide for a different method of taxing agricultural land and horticultural land which results in values that are not uniform and proportionate with all other real property and franchises but which results in values that are uniform and proportionate upon all property within the class of agricultural land and horticultural land.

Neb. Const. art. VIII, §1 (4).

5. For purposes of sections 77-1359 to 77-1363:

(1) Agricultural land and horticultural land means a parcel of land which is primarily used for agricultural or horticultural purposes, including wasteland lying in or adjacent to and in common ownership or management with other agricultural land and horticultural land. Agricultural land and horticultural land does not include any land directly associated with any building or enclosed structure;

(2) Agricultural or horticultural purposes means used for the commercial production of any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture. Agricultural or horticultural purposes includes the following uses of land:

(a) Land retained or protected for future agricultural or horticultural purposes under a conservation easement as provided in the Conservation and Preservation Easements Act except when the parcel or a portion thereof is being used for purposes other than agricultural or horticultural purposes; and

(b) Land enrolled in a federal or state program in which payments are received for removing such land from agricultural or horticultural production;

(3) Farm home site means not more than one acre of land contiguous to a farm site which includes an inhabitable residence and improvements used for residential purposes, and such improvements include utility connections, water and sewer systems, and improved access to a public road; and

- (4) Farm site means the portion of land contiguous to land actively devoted to agriculture which includes improvements that are agricultural or horticultural in nature, including any uninhabitable or unimproved farm home site. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1359 (Cum. Supp. 2006).
6. The Legislature may enact laws to provide that the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use shall for property tax purposes be that value which such land has for agricultural or horticultural use without regard to any value which such land might have for other purposes or uses. Neb. Const. art. VIII, §1 (5).
7. Agricultural or horticultural land which has an actual value as defined in section 77-112 reflecting purposes or uses other than agricultural or horticultural purposes or uses shall be assessed as provided in subsection (3) of section 77-201 if the land meets the qualifications of this subsection and an application for such special valuation is filed and approved pursuant to section 77-1345. In order for the land to qualify for special valuation all of the following criteria shall be met: (a) The land is located outside the corporate boundaries of any sanitary and improvement district, city, or village except as provided in subsection (2) of this section; and (b) the land is agricultural or horticultural land. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1344 (1) (Supp. 2007).
8. The eligibility of land for the special valuation provisions is to be determined each year as of January 1, but if the land so qualified becomes disqualified on or before December 31 of that year, it shall be valued at its recapture value. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1344 (3) (Supp. 2007).

9. Parcel means a contiguous tract of land determined by its boundaries, under the same ownership, and in the same tax district and section. Parcel also means an improvement on leased land. If all or several lots in the same block are owned by the same person and are contained in the same tax district, they may be included in one parcel. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-132 (Supp. 2007).
10. At any time, the county assessor may determine that land no longer qualifies for special valuation pursuant to sections 77-1344 and 77-1347. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1347.01 (Supp. 2007).
11. If land is deemed disqualified, the county assessor shall send a written notice of the determination to the applicant or owner within fifteen days after his or her determination, including the reason for the disqualification. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1347.01 (Supp. 2007).
12. A protest of the county assessor's determination may be filed with the county board of equalization within thirty days after the mailing of the notice. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1347.01 (Supp. 2007).
13. A presumption exists that the County Board has faithfully performed its duties and has acted on competent evidence. Omaha Country Club v. Douglas County Bd. of Equalization, 11 Neb.App. 171, 645 N.W.2d 821 (2002).
14. The presumption in favor of the county board may be classified as a principle of procedure involving the burden of proof, namely, a taxpayer has the burden to prove that action by a board of equalization, fixing or determining valuation of real estate for tax purposes, is unauthorized by or contrary to constitutional or statutory provisions

- governing taxation. Gordman Properties Company v. Board of Equalization of Hall County, 225 Neb. 169, 403 N.W.2d 366 (1987).
15. The presumption disappears if there is competent evidence to the contrary. Id.
  16. Competent evidence means evidence which tends to establish the fact in issue. In re Application of Jantzen, 245 Neb. 81, 511 N.W.2d 504 (1994).
  17. The Taxpayer has a burden to adduce evidence that the decision, action, order, or determination appealed from was unreasonable or arbitrary as prescribed by statute. City of York v. York County Bd. of Equalization, 266 Neb. 297, 664 N.W.2d 445 (2003).
  18. The Commission may not grant relief unless it is shown that the action of the County Board was unreasonable or arbitrary. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-5016 (8) (Cum. Supp. 2006).
  19. Proof that the action of the County Board was unreasonable or arbitrary must be made by clear and convincing evidence. See, e.g., Omaha Country Club v. Douglas Cty. Bd. of Equal., 11 Neb.App. 171, 645 N.W.2d 821 (2002).
  20. "Clear and convincing evidence means and is that amount of evidence which produces in the trier of fact a firm belief or conviction about the existence of a fact to be proved." Castellano v. Bitkower, 216 Neb. 806, 812, 346 N.W.2d 249, 253 (1984).
  21. A decision is "arbitrary" when it is made in disregard of the facts and circumstances and without some basis which could lead a reasonable person to the same conclusion. Phelps Cty. Bd. of Equal. v. Graf, 258 Neb 810, 606 N.W.2d 736 (2000).
  22. A decision is unreasonable only if the evidence presented leaves no room for differences of opinion among reasonable minds. Pittman v. Sarpy Cty. Bd. of Equal., 258 Neb 390, 603 N.W.2d 447 (1999).

IV. ANALYSIS

The subject property contains 22.82 acres. Portions of the subject property are separated by a railroad track. (E 11:3). The Taxpayers use 20.82 acres for the production of hay, grazing, and the structures necessary to care for several horses used for breeding. The offspring of the breeding horses are sold. Improvements on the subject property are a residence, a Morton building used for the storage of hay and machinery, and a Morton building used for housing of the horses used for breeding.

Only agricultural land and horticultural land as defined by the legislature is eligible for special valuation. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1344 (1) (Supp. 2007). The statutory definition of agricultural land and horticultural land contains various terms which are critical to an understanding of the statute. The term “parcel” has been defined by Nebraska’s Legislature. "Parcel means a contiguous tract of land determined by its boundaries, under the same ownership, and in the same tax district and section. Parcel also means an improvement on leased land. If all or several lots in the same block are owned by the same person and are contained in the same tax district, they may be included in one parcel." Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-132 (Cum. Supp. 2006).

Other significant terms within the statutory definition of agricultural land and horticultural land have not been defined by the Legislature. The term “commercial production” has not been defined but only land used for the “commercial production” of any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture, with exceptions noted above, may be agricultural land and horticultural land. The Commission has not found in statute or in Nebraska case law a definition of the term “commercial production.” Commercial can mean “of, in or relating to commerce.” Webster's Third New International Dictionary, Merriam-Webster, Inc., 2002, 456. An alternate definition is “from the point of view of profit: having profit as the primary aim.” Id. Prior to adoption of amendments to the statute defining agricultural land and horticultural land in 2006 the definition of agricultural and horticultural land contained a requirement that the land be used for the “production” of agricultural products. Neb. Rev. Stat. §77-1359 (Reissue 2003). The new term “commercial production” did not appear in the definition. Id. A statute should be construed to give effect to purposeful change in its provisions. A construction of “commercial production” to mean production from the point of view of making a profit gives effect to the change in terminology as adopted by the legislature. The Commission finds that “commercial production” means production with the intent to make a profit .

It is appropriate to consider a number of factors to determine whether or not an activity is undertaken with a view to making a profit. See Wood, 548 T.M., Hobby Losses. Among the factors to be considered are: whether the activity is conducted in a business like manner with adequate records and adaption of operating methods to changing circumstances; expertise of the Taxpayer, if any, necessary for conduct of the operation; consultation with experts, if necessary, and reliance on appraisals or other data for decision making as necessary; time and effort expended by the Taxpayer in furtherance of the operation; any expectation of appreciation in the assets employed in the operation; success the Taxpayer has had in carrying on similar or dissimilar operations; the Taxpayer’s history of profits or losses with respect to the operation discounting startup losses and losses or gains due to unusual circumstances; any profits earned and the possibility of profits if none have been earned to date; the Taxpayer's financial status i.e. the ability to sustain losses or incur costs without regard to returns; and elements of personal pleasure or recreation, or other motives other than profit or gain. The same factors are relevant to a determination of whether commercial production of a plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture ("commercial production") has occurred on the parcel. In addition, the Commission will consider other factors as presented for consideration on a case by case basis.

The Taxpayers were raised on farms and have developed expertise in the breeding of horses. The Taxpayers keep up to 5 brood mares and their unsold offspring on the subject property. Horses are sold at 3 to 4 years of age so that the buyer does not bear the expense of raising and initial training of the horse. The Taxpayers exert personal effort in the conduct of the breeding operation.

The Taxpayers have made a significant investment in the subject property after its purchase as an unimproved tract in 1987. The Taxpayers' investment included a residence and two Morton buildings constructed after purchase of the subject property.

The Taxpayers testified that a small farm had to be efficient to make a profit and that revenues from horse breeding were dependent on the market value of the horses produced. The Taxpayers presented financial information for the years 2006, 2007 and 2008. The financial information is in the form of Schedules F that were part of the Taxpayers' federal income tax returns for the years 2006, 2007, and 2008. Information from those schedules is summarized in the following table.

Exhibit	E11:15	E11:13	E11:11
Sales	$3,500	$12,634	$6,542
Program Payment
Gross Income	$3,500	$12,634	$6,542
Gross Expenses	$19,235	$24,568	$20,237
Less Depreciation	$4,159	$5,710	$5,319
Cash Expense	$15,076	$18,858	$14,918
Net Cash Flow	$-11,576	$-6,224	$-8,376

The Taxpayers harvest 1,500 bales of hay per year from the subject property. (E11:9). In 2006, 500 bales were sold for $2,500. (E11:9)

The Taxpayers have kept records from which it could be determined whether a profit or a loss was the result of their efforts indicating a desire to know the result and improve if the result was not satisfactory. The results of those efforts as indicated by the financial information provided show consistent losses by the two measures described above. A consistent failure to show a profit, by the two measures shown, over the 3 year period shown indicates that Taxpayers are not primarily motivated by a desire to make a profit. The losses computed on a cash basis for the year 2006 are 12.41 % of income from all other sources. Other income from other sources is not available for the years 2007 and 2008, however if the 2006 year is considered representative, the cash losses for 2007 are 6.67 percent of all other income, and in 2008 8.98 percent of all other income. Consistent losses with the financial impacts described are not an indication of commercial production. Likewise, in 2007 as gross receipts increased, expenditures increased in a corresponding fashion.

Based on the Taxpayers' evidence, the Commission concludes that the requirement for commercial production of any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture, on the parcel has not been met. Because no part of the subject property is used for the commercial production of any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture it is unnecessary to consider whether the primary use of the subject property is the commercial production of any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture.

The subject property is not agricultural land or horticultural land and is not qualified for special valuation.

APPEALS FROM DECISIONS OF THE COMMISSION MUST SATISFY THE REQUIREMENTS OF NEB. REV. STAT. §77-5019 (CUM. SUPP. 2008), OTHER PROVISIONS OF NEBRASKA STATUTES, AND COURT RULES.

Commissioner Hotz, dissenting in part and concurring in the result.

While I agree that the County Board's decision should be reversed and that the subject property is not eligible for special valuation, I write separately to dissent from the portion of the presiding officer's Decision and Order (Decision) that concludes there is no commercial production on any part of the subject property.

It is not entirely clear what the law requires since the term "commercial" was brought into the equation in relation to agricultural land and horticultural land, as enacted in Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(2) by Laws 2006, LB808, Section 35. I do not disagree with the Decision when it suggests that "a statute should be construed to give effect to purposeful change in its provisions." The origin of this uncited position may likely be traced to the general rule that, "it will be presumed that the Legislature, in adopting an amendment, intended to make some change in the existing law and that the courts will endeavor to give some effect thereto." No Frills Supermarket, Inc. v. Nebraska Liquor Control Comm., 246 Neb. 822, 523 N.W.2d 528 (1994). However, a construction that concludes, as the Decision does, that adding the term "commercial" requires a showing of intent to make a net profit evidenced by multiple years of actual net profits (as shown in federal income tax filings) extends this rule too far.

The Decision notes that "commercial production" is a term undefined in Nebraska law, yet prefers a more restrictive common definition of "commercial" over an alternate common meaning which would just as adequately fit within the statutory scheme. I would not stress so little, as the Decision does, the definition of "commercial" as being "of, in or relating to commerce" in the analysis of what constitutes "commercial production." And, in my view, the Decision's more narrow construction of "commercial production" is more restrictive than the language of the statute demands.

The Decision in this appeal finds that "commercial production means production with the intent to make a profit." Yet, there are a variety of opinions on this point. For example, the Tax Commissioner opines that commercial production means "agricultural or horticultural products produced for the primary purpose of obtaining a monetary profit." Directive 08-04 (December 23, 2008)(emphasis added). Additionally, in floor debate on LB808, the chairman of the Legislature's Revenue Committee stated that the insertion of the term commercial "removes the preferential assessment for those that are not farming commercially." Floor Debate, 99th Leg., 2d Sess. 11109-11110 (March 22, 2006). And finally, this Commission, in a prior decision affirmed by the Nebraska Supreme Court<sup>1</sup> concluded, "In this appeal the evidence is that corn and hay have been produced each year and that the Taxpayer has attempted to maximize revenues through cooperation with adjoining land owners. Those factors are sufficient to make a determination that use of the subject property has met the commercial production requirement." Agena v. Lancaster County Board of Equalization and Johnson (January 18, 2008)(emphasis added).

The Decision in this case concludes that a consistent showing of expenses exceeding income is tantamount to no intent to make a profit. Construing "commercial production" in a property tax scheme as requiring a showing of intent to make a net profit, particularly when measured by a federal income tax scheme, seems quite unnecessarily complicated. If intent to make a profit is the hurdle that must be cleared in order to satisfy the commercial production requirement -- based upon a consistent showing of income exceeding expenses -- and a failure to show profit becomes evidence that such an activity was merely a residential hobby, then one would wonder what to do with enterprises (that by all other appearances look like what Nebraskans call farms) reporting losses to the Internal Revenue Service in years when grain prices have significantly fallen or large amounts of depreciation on new equipment come onto the books. Such a construction would tend to produce unreasonable and inconsistent results.

Take for example a rural acreage owner who receives revenues from corn and hay production on 19 acres of a 20 acre parcel. Since he leases the ground to someone else to grow and harvest crops, he has no expenses, and he can consistently show net profits. Thus, he would satisfy this Decision's commercial production requirement. Yet the same 19 acres of corn and hay would no longer satisfy the Decision's intent to make a profit construction of commercial production if only a few factors are changed, all wholly unrelated to the use of the land. If the same acreage owner were to purchase a small tractor and some tilling, planting, and baling equipment, buy some fertilizer and seed, sell the harvested corn and hay, and then show his income and expenses, including depreciation on equipment, on his federal income tax forms, the same land, used for the same purposes (to grow and sell hay and corn) would no longer be classified as agricultural but instead residential, if his income did not exceed his expenses. What cannot go unnoticed in this example is that whether he leases the land to someone else or farms it himself the use of the land is no more or less agricultural and it is no more or less being used for commercial purposes. Under the analysis of the Decision, if he leases the ground to someone else, it should be classified as agricultural land; but if he farms it himself, it should be assessed as residential. I cannot concur in such reasoning. Whether land classifications in a property tax system should change from year to year for each particular parcel based upon things like changing grain prices or personal property depreciation schedules is a matter of public policy for the Legislature, not an intermediate appellate tribunal,<sup>2</sup> to decide. To construe Section 77-1359(2), as the Decision has here, will yield inconsistent and unreasonable results. Such a construction ultimately demands a consistent showing of net profit when no such requirement is found anywhere in the language of the statute.

In my reading of the statutory scheme, agricultural land and horticultural land includes land used for agricultural or horticultural purposes. Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(1). In order to qualify as an agricultural or horticultural purpose, the land must be used for “commercial production.” Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(2). And the commercial production must involve “any plant or animal product in a raw or unprocessed state that is derived from the science and art of agriculture, aquaculture, or horticulture.” Id. The statute says nothing about “intent to make a profit,” or, as this Decision says, “primarily motivated by a desire to make a profit.” The Legislature very well may have changed the meaning of the definition of the classification of agricultural or horticultural land when it added the term “commercial” to Section 77-1359(2), but I cannot conclude as the Decision does, that change now demands a showing of intent to make a profit by showing multiple years of actual net profits.

In the present case, the Taxpayer testified he purchased the 22.82 acre parcel in 1987 for $20,000, and moved a residence onto the land in 1993 at a cost of approximately $100,000. Two Morton buildings were constructed on the parcel in 1991 and 1993, at costs of approximately $12,000 and $15,000 respectively. A hay barn was constructed in 1998. The Morton buildings and the barn were each used in 2007 and 2008 to support the Taxpayers' business of buying, raising, and selling horses. All acres other than the home site and building sites were devoted to brome hay and pasture, all for the benefit of the horses. Hay that was not consumed by the horses was sold. For tax year 2006, no hay was sold (due to drought), but one three-year-old horse was sold for $3,500. (E2:5, E2:8) For tax year 2007, the Taxpayer had income of $2,500 from the sale of 500 bales of hay, and income from the sale of three quarter horses for the amount of $10,100, for a total of $12,600 (E11:9, E11:13).

Thus, I would find that the sales of agricultural or horticultural products, as is found in this appeal, are commerce, even when such sales do not result in a consistent showing of net profits, and as such satisfy the requirement of "commercial production" as used in Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(2). Therefore, I cannot conclude, as this Decision does, that there is no commercial production on any part of the parcel.

However, I must concur in the result of the Decision because of another statutory change: the insertion of the term "parcel" in Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(1) by 2006 Neb. Laws LB808, Section 35. By inserting that term, the primary use aspect of greenbelt analysis shifted dramatically for tax years 2007 and 2008.<sup>3</sup> Unlike the term "commercial production," the term "parcel" is defined in Nebraska statutes. As is applicable in this case, parcel means "a contiguous tract of land determined by its boundaries, under the same ownership, and in the same <sup>3</sup> I note that 2008 Neb. Laws LB777, Section 1, subsequently amended Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(1), effective January 1, 2009, to exclude "any building or enclosed structure and the land associated with such building or enclosed structure located on the parcel" from the definition of agricultural land and horticultural land. The present case must be decided based upon the law as it existed on January 1, 2007.

tax district and section.” Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-132. “The addition of the word “parcel” was intended to require a county assessor to consider the entire tract of land, including any homesite, to determine whether the predominate use of the parcel was for agricultural purposes.” Agena v. Lancaster County Board of Equalization, 276 Neb. 851, 862, 758 N.W.2d 363, 373 (2008)(emphasis in original). Thus, the insertion of the term “parcel” into the definition of “agricultural land and horticultural land” at Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(1) gives the effect that there is to be no greenbelt designation unless the entire parcel – including any residential land or buildings – is primarily used for agricultural or horticultural purposes, as defined at Neb. Rev. Stat. Section 77-1359(2). In other words, since the residence and the land associated with the residence are part of the “parcel,” as defined in Section 77-132, the analysis of the primary use of the parcel cannot ignore the relative use of the residence.

In this case, the market value of the residence and the land under the residence in 2007 was $187,732 ($137,732 + $50,000) (E9:1). The 2007 market value for the remainder of the parcel was $15,723 (E9:4). A representative of the County Assessor’s Office, Chris Benson, testified that if the agricultural use of the parcel were to cease, the property would be viable as residential property, but if the residential use ceased, the agricultural use of the parcel would no longer be viable.

Thus, I would find that while the property has some agricultural and horticultural uses, the parcel is not primarily used for agricultural or horticultural purposes. When weighing the relative uses of the entire parcel, as the statute requires for tax year 2007, I would find that the agricultural use is outweighed by the residential use.

Therefore, I concur only in the result of the Decision, that the decision of the Lancaster County Board of Equalization should be reversed.
